Dear Mr. Steven Wright;

I'm writing with concern about affordable energy for the aluminum industry. The aluminum industry is critical to the Northwest economy. In Washington the aluminum industry provides 7,510 family wage jobs, in which I am one of them.

I support the Alcoa proposal for Post 2006. We need to be treated equitably when compared with other industries in the Northwest. Our economy has suffered enough. We need to do everything we can to avoid eliminating more industry, especially those that operate in rural areas.

These jobs are very important. Please make sure affordable power is available to industry. The future of our plant and many others are in your hands.

Sincerely,
Jennifer Loesche
